

BURNBY HALL & GARDENS

Following on from the very successful visit in May, Russ and Ange Sayers have arranged a second visit to Burnby Hall & Gardens, this time to see the show of lilies.

Burnby Hall is the home of the National Collection of Hardy Water Lilies and the Stewart Museum. The gardens have plenty to see with easy walks round the upper and lower lakes and lots of hidden corners to explore. The museum is dedicated to Major Percy Stewart, adventurer, collector and environmentalist, who on his death left his garden in trust for the people of Pocklington.

Take a picnic or enjoy a bite in the Lily Pad café.

The first 15 cars will be displayed on the lawned area by the lake, any remaining cars will be parked outside the Hall so a good opportunity to show off our cars.

If you fancy a relaxing day out with your Morgan please let Russ and Ange know by e-mail - arnoldrussell.sayers@ntlworld.com
